"I believe that sometimes you have to be willing to give up the good to receive the greater good." — Edwene Gaines

Lesson

There is a deeper movement within Life that is always seeking greater expression. What we often call "good" may, in truth, be only a stepping stone to something more expansive. When we cling to what is good, we may unknowingly resist what is greater.

To say "Give Me 10" is to enter into a sacred agreement with the Universe. It is the willingness to release a portion in faith, trusting that what returns will be multiplied in ways beyond our present understanding. This is not sacrifice—it is alignment with the Law of Increase.

Tithing acknowledges that God is our Source. It is a conscious recognition that all supply flows from an Infinite Presence. Nothing we have originates solely from personal effort; it is the outpouring of a greater Intelligence expressing through us. Giving becomes our way of saying, "I know where this comes from."

The question of where to give becomes clear when we listen within. We give where we are spiritually nourished—where our soul is fed, where our consciousness is expanded, where Truth is revealed to us. In returning a portion to that source, we complete the cycle of giving and receiving.

When we release the "good," we open ourselves to the "greater." When we give freely, we dissolve fear. When we trust the flow, we discover that Life is always for us, always supporting us, always expanding us.

The Law responds not to how much we hold, but to how freely we allow Life to move through us.

Meditative Thought

I release the good and welcome the greater.

I trust the flow of Divine Abundance.

Affirmation

I give with joy, knowing God is my Source.

I am open to greater Good now unfolding in my life.

What I release returns to me multiplied and blessed.

Spiritual Practice

Today, reflect on something good you may be holding onto.

Gently affirm: "I am willing to release this for something greater."

Give consciously—your Time, Talent, and Treasure—to where you are spiritually nourished, and trust the Law to respond.

Give consciously—your time, your energy, or your resources—to where you are spiritually nourished, and trust the Law to respond.
